Dear Bull and Horse Sale Sponsor:

Thank you for your support of the Klamath Bull and Horse Sale, presented by the Klamath Cattlemen's Association.

The Klamath Bull and Horse sale began over 50 years ago as a way to bring quality bulls to cattlemen in Klamath County, and improve the quality of the stock grown here. Today, the Klamath Bull and Horse sale is much more than just a bull sale; it is an event, with activities for the entire family. All the members of our community, whether they are directly involved in agriculture or not, are encouraged to attend this family friendly gathering. At the Klamath Bull and Horse Sale, people can witness our way of life, engage with some of the people that produce the food that feeds this great nation and the world, and enjoy themselves in the Klamath Basin, where they can witness the tradition and culture of our western heritage.

Some of the events that will be a part of this year's Klamath Bull and Horse Sale include:

- ❖ Judging, sifting, and grading of bulls and their sale at auction;
- ❖ Inspecting, previewing the works, and sifting the ranch working horses consigned for sale at auction;
- ❖ A benefit auction for Water for Life, a non-profit organization dedicated to protecting and promoting agricultural water rights while advocating responsible stewardship of the land;
- ❖ A working ranch horse contest for horses not consigned for sale at auction;
- ❖ A cow dog trial, testing the skill of dogs and handlers in moving and controlling cattle;
- ❖ A Big Loop contest, highlighting the art and skill of working cowboys;
- ❖ An open branding competition and kid's event on Friday evening;
- ❖ Throughout the Klamath Bull and Horse Sale, a Western Trade show displaying western clothing, livestock supplies, saddles, tack, equipment, Western art and more; and
- ❖ To conclude the Sale, a Ranch Rodeo, where teams of cowboys compete for cash and prizes.

Your generous support will make this event possible, and help it to grow and serve the people of Klamath County. We appreciate any amount you can give, and if you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact any Committee member.

Sincerely,

Nathan Jackson
President
